Brief Report of Session

The session today was in the Main Hall. After praying Isha, we had an educational session this week, discussing the responsibility of each one of us to be good role models and never to pre-judge others on the basis of appearance, actions, behaviours and speech. We discussed Adam Saleh's removal from a Delta Airlines flight that most of the boys had seen on social media and how his manner differed from that of the Prophet (SAW). We discussed how we could handle that situation differently if we were ever in that scenario.

We ate a couple of pizzas (which the boys groaned may have been too spicy). We then covered surah At-Takaathur from the Quran, its recitation, its meaning and how we can apply it in our lives. In particular, how we should not race after piling up mountains of wealth or worldly desires, because these things distract us from our mortality, and therefore from our ultimate aims.

We played sock wrestling – a game in which the boys try to pull each other's socks off. We finished the session at exactly 9 PM.

Incidents or Accidents

An older boy was punched by a younger boy in the arm when the younger boy got excited. The boy who was punched was not hurt and no first aid was needed. The parent of the boy who punched was informed that striking will not be tolerated and an action plan will be put in place to prevent such behaviour taking place again.
